MAYOR BOB PHILCOX was a principal speaker at Sunday's dedication of the Tricentennial time capsule at Century House in Pleasanton. Philcox spoke of Pleasanton's storied past and hopes for the future. Names and signatures of council members will be included in the time capsule to be implaced at a later date near Century House in Bicentennial Park.

Capsule, concert top off Pleasanton Bicentennial salute

It was the perfect day for a birthday ... and patriotic speeches ... and stirring band music ... remembrances ... and strawberries and ice cream, too.

And at least 300 Pleasantonites made Sunday, July 4, 1976, a day they won't soon forget. Many will have their names and faces recalled 100 years from now when the Tricentennial time capsule is opened on July 4, 2076.

The special Fourth of July festivities at Century House in Bicentennial Park were organized by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, Brad Hirst chairman, and Pleasanton Bicentennial Festival Committee, Charlotte Severin chairwoman.

Highlight of the afternoon was the dedication of the time capsule, containing items reflecting the life and times of the Pleasanton area of the 1970s.

Guided by Mrs. Severin, the special time capsule subcommittee was composed of Festival panel members such as Phyllis Wentworth, Betty Nostrand, Bev Hamlin and Al Fischer, and Amador Valley High student leaders Mark Zevanove, Liz Shepherd, Robin Pina, Steve Zevanove and members of the executive council.

A credit card, Sears catalog, Amador Valley High yearbook, copy of the controversial nuclear initiative, photos of the gas lines and Pleasanton landmarks, and copies of special progress editions of The Times were but a few of the items to be placed in the 103-pound stainless steel capsule to be "air-proofed" before it is buried near Century House.

Jerry Lapinski directed the Pleasanton Bicentennial Band on an improvised stand on the porch of the house, and Pleasanton Jaycee Wives served strawberries and ice cream.

Pleasanton council members present were introduced and Hirst and Mayor Bob Philcox gave stirring tributes to past times and prospects for the future.

The capsule will serve as a lasting memorial and remembrance of Pleasanton in the 1970s, along with the Bicentennial Bandstand in Wayside Park on First Street.

PLEASANTON BICENTENNIAL Festival Committee chairwoman Charlotte Severin coordinated the Fourth of July program at Century House in Bicentennial Park. Beautiful blue skies, the impressive time capsule dedication and band concert combined to attract more than 300 Pleasanton area residents. A committee of Amador Valley High student leaders and Bicentennial committee members selected the materials to go in the capsule, which will be opened at the celebration of the Nation's Tricentennial in 2076.

CENTURY HOUSE, focal point of Bicentennial Park in Pleasanton, was the scene of Pleasanton's special Fourth of July festivities Sunday. At right, above, youngsters sign scrolls that will be placed in the Tricentennial time capsule. More than a hundred residents lined up to write their names for posterity. The capsule, constructed by Dave Wentworth of Pleasanton along with his dad, Bill, will be implaced near Century House at a later date to be (hopefully) dug up and opened 100 years from now — at the Nation's Tricentennial celebration. At right, Pleasanton Jaycee Wives serve strawberries and ice cream to those attending Pleasanton's Fourth of July festivities at Century House. Special treat topped off afternoon that included a band concert by Pleasanton's own Bicentennial band, directed by Jerry Lapinski, time capsule ceremonies, and Ecumenical church services Sunday morning at Amador Valley High auditorium.

Barbecue blaze in Portola patio

Barbecue left unattended on a patio grill sparked a fire of undetermined damage at 3:31 a.m. Saturday at 1537 Portola in Livermore, according to the Livermore Fire Department. The fire damaged the patio area of the home and a portion of the kitchen. No injuries were reported.

Youth cited for marijuana possession

An 18-year-old San Jose resident was cited by Pleasanton Police Sunday shortly before midnight for allegedly possessing six marijuana cigarettes. The vehicle in which the youth was riding had been stopped by police near Gate 7 of the Fairgrounds in Pleasanton for not having a rear license plate. A check of the driver uncovered a pipe, allegedly with a strong residue of marijuana, and the cigarettes.

Motorist levels Foothill boxes

A resident of the 5100 block of Foothill Road in Pleasanton, traveling north on Foothill at midnight Sunday, lost control of his van-type vehicle near his residence and knocked down one street sign, and a pole with two mail boxes and four newspaper boxes on it.

Police report the vehicle sustained minor damages. Their were no witnesses to the incident and police report no injuries were sustained.

Livermore police kept busy

Though no major accidents or thefts were reported throughout the three-day holiday period with a continuous series of malicious mischief, minor thefts, prowlers, disagreements and over-imbibing cases.

Las Positas ramp support

(Conclusion of a series)

PLEASANTON — Ginny Lunger can think of at least five good reasons for building the Las Positas vehicle overcrossing.

"It's needed because of the students running across and under I-680 to get to Foothill High School, it would reduce the mileage for students and parents to travel there and less gas used would mean less smog produced, and it would provide a safer bus route to Foothill High School. The largest enrollment at the high school comes from east of I-680."

The other reasons are provision of better vehicle emergency response and better access to Pleasanton shopping for residents west of the freeway.

Lunger, who is president of the Donlon Parent Faculty Club, thinks it is unfortunate that a petition circulated against the vehicle overcrossing. The opponents got more than 300 signatures and Lungner, Don Savery and others responded on a weekend by gathering nearly 500 signatures for their side. But petitioning just manifests the feelings of some people, she said. A look at the whole community would show a big need for the overcrossing, said Lungner.

She does not oppose the proposed Stoneridge overcrossing, but she has some fear that building it first would work politically against building the Las Positas overcrossing.

On the other hand, it's possible the regional shopping center never will be built and that's all the more reason to get going as soon as possible on the Las Positas overcrossing, she said.

Like other proponents of the overcrossing, Lungner thinks that the state highway department made an important commitment in 1964 and renewed it again in 1971 when it promised to subsidize construction of the overcrossing.

She found it "appalling" to read a news story recently in which a Cal Trans official proposed beautification of I-680 from Pleasanton to Fremont. Cal Trans ought to put the safety priority of the Las Positas overcrossing above dressing up the freeway, she said.

"It's up to the state," said Lungner. "Do we have to wait until someone is killed before something is done?"

Jim Jordan, who has worked on the drive to get the overcrossing, thinks the city could push Cal Trans harder to get the overpass. A lot of hard lobbying would accomplish it, he thinks.

Don Savery, active in the Val Vista Homeowners Association, said that he could understand opposition to the overpass from those living near Las Positas Boulevard. It will increase noise and traffic.

"I have similar reservations myself, because it will mean more noise and traffic in my area. But in this case, the overall benefit is worth the nuisance," said Savery.

Lunger spoke to the 30,000 car trips a day predicted along Las Positas if the Las Positas overpass goes in. "I should be more concerned than anyone, since I live near Las Positas and Hopland Road. But it is needed by the community. It has been on the planning maps since the Year One. I think we need both overpasses. I wouldn't want to see on and off ramps at the overcrossing, though. They should leave that just for Stoneridge," said Lungner.

Little hope for Fair racing

Despite the negotiations session Monday afternoon on the five-weeks old county employees strike, racing at the Alameda County Fair in Pleasanton has been cancelled for the eighth straight day.

Racing secretary Charles Dougherty drew entries for a possible Wednesday opener yesterday. It is estimated that almost $400,000 has been lost in purse money for horsemen.

Daily attendance at the Fair soared past the 20,000 mark each day of the long Fourth of July weekend. Peak attendance was Sunday when 25,977 were counted through the gates, less than 4,000 behind the corresponding Sunday last year.

Only 14,060 attended Friday's events at the Fair but the count hit 23,057 Saturday. For the same two days last year, County Fair Association officials counted 65,664 and 47,470, respectively, through the turnstiles.

Tonight marks the debut of Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass in the Amphitheatre with the free shows starting at 7 and 9 p.m.

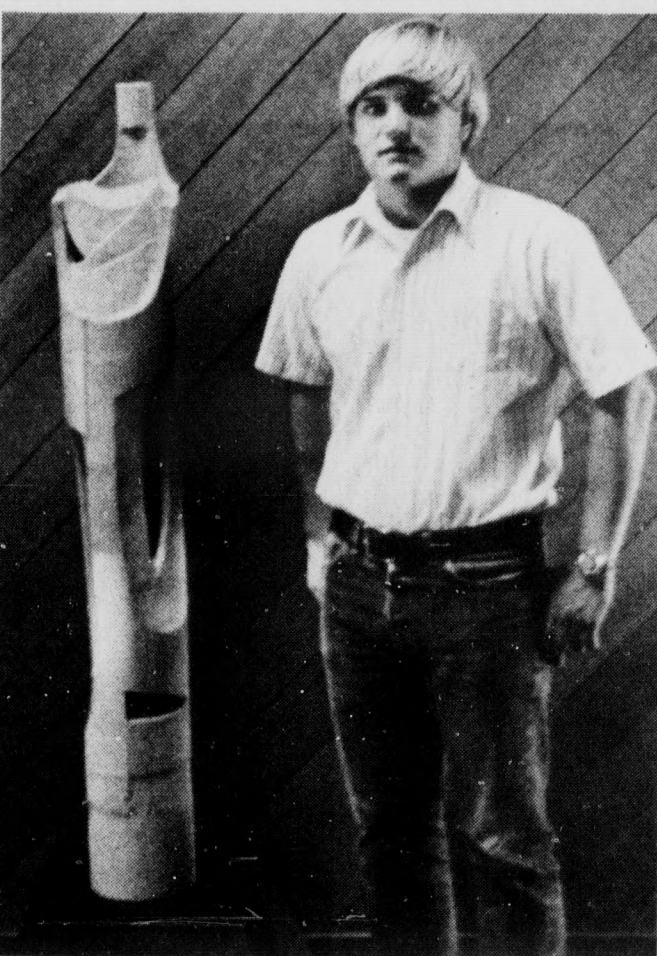

Fair schedule for today along with photos and results of some of the exhibits may be found on Page 6.

Good public works

Karl Aitken of the Pleasanton City Engineering Department is one of the young workers who helped Pleasanton and other participating northern California cities win this award for helping youth through employment and participation in public works and other programs. The award, which was on display at the civic center until recently, was given by the American Public Works Association. The award is called the "Aedile" because it was the Latin name for elected public works officials in the Roman Empire whose jobs were to maintain temples, public buildings, streets, sewers, and aqueducts and to distribute grain and organize public games. Ranch on 580 sale to agency?

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — The 45-acre Rowell Ranch, Dublin Canyon home of the historic Hayward Rodeo, apparently will be sold to a public agency for half its $295,000 appraised value under condition the new owner continues the annual fete.

First shot at the lands adjacent to Interstate Highway 580 goes to the Hayward Area Recreation District, according to John K. Smith, attorney for the executors of the late Margaret Rowell's estate.

Negotiations with the recreation district held before Mrs. Rowell's death did not end in an obligation to buy, Smith said. And if HARD does not want the land, it will be offered to other public agencies under the same conditions.

HARD General Manager L.A. Critzer said the district may accept the offer if there is a possibility of other recreational uses for the land.

Picnics, concerts, equestrian activities and midjet car racing were suggested.

The purchase might be financed through a negotiated time purchase or readjusting HARD's current budget priorities, he said, noting he is not ready to recommend the purchase to the district.

District directors, who have toured the ranch, may discuss the purchase at this month's meeting.

The East Bay Regional Parks District has made advances toward purchasing the 4,200-acre Rowell Ranch in the Livermore hills as part of a regional wilderness. The district is prepared to pay $741,000 for the larger Rowell property.

Zone 7 organization

New members meet

LIVERMORE — Directors - elect Archer Futch, Ed Kinney and Gib Marguth will be sworn in as members of the Zone 7 Board of Directors at a special organizational meeting on Wednesday, July 7 at the Del Valle Water Treatment Plant in Livermore.

They will join directors Joseph Concannon, George Lydixsen, Robert Pearson and Richard Ryon on the seven-member board that is charged with providing water to valley retailers.

With the departure of David Harris as chairman and Robert Becker as vice chairman, Pearson, as secretary, is the only officer returning from last year.

The board must elect new officers for the 1976-77 term.

Traditionally the chairmanship is given to the director with most seniority who has not served previously as chairman. Using that guideline, the board is likely to choose either Pearson or Ryon as chairman.

As chairman of the Administration Committee, Pearson was instrumental in furthering the move of Zone 7 offices from Hayward to the valley, a venture spearheaded by former chairman Harris.

Both Pearson and Ryon favor cooperation with the Livermore-Amador Valley

Water Management Agency (LAVWMA), a subject for discussion at the Wednesday meeting after the election of new officers.

LAVWMA has requested a joint meeting with the zone to reinstitute cooperative talks. There are three new directors on the six-member LAVWMA board, and both boards hope to establish a new relationship between them now that elections are over.

Efforts failed last term to sign a mutually satisfactory "memorandum of understanding." The boards have been directed by the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency to develop a working relationship.

After two years of unsuccessful negotiations on the memorandum, the two agencies may choose not to revive the document, but may elect instead to work cooperatively without a formal declaration. The zone meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Del Valle Treatment Plant, E. Vallecitos Road, Livermore.

A little slice of life for nursery school kids

LIVERMORE — They clambered aboard the enormous thing that was something like a car, but so high ... so noisy ... and with so many windows!

There were lots of places to sit — but no seat-belts. The huge machine rattled and swayed and spit out gas fumes as it belted down East Stanley Boulevard.

And then they were in Pleasanton and the doors hissed open and it was time to jump down and walk to the Cheese Factory.

And the awed toddlers from St. Bartholomew's Nursery School ended their first bus ride.

Concept - expanding experiences like the trip on the BART bus are part of the program at St. Bartholomew's Nursery. The idea, according to teacher Sally Leonard, is to help children extend their awareness beyond home, family and the local supermarket.

Another recent trip took the tots to the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch south of Livermore, where they met a crabby turkey and touched some cows, horses, chickens, rabbits and goats in the ranch's petting zoo.

Back at the nursery on Enos Way, the children are having their bodies traced on huge sheets of paper, then painting the forms. The kids think it's a gas to paint their arms yellow and their faces blue — but the activity increases self-awareness as well as providing an "art" experience.

St. Bart's Nursery is a cross-cultural non-denominational preschool associated with the federal CAPE program and Livermore Adult Education programs. The school offers three-hour sessions; both teacher staffed and parent participation alternatives are available.

Further details are available from the school staff (443-0678) or Mary Hempen (447-0262.)

Shadow Cliffs institutes water safety measures

PLEASANTON — Shaken by three recent drownings at Shadow Cliffs Regional Recreation Area, the East Bay Regional Park District has begun an eight-point safety program there.

Two drownings occurred in the "Arroyo," a dug-out pool of water behind the main part of Shadow Cliffs Park. The entire area is a former gravel quarry with steep piles of dirt forming abrupt banks along the water at many points.

Only one drowning had occurred in the arroyo in past years, and none while the area was under EBRPD ownership.

Another drowning took place in Shadow Cliffs Lake in an area not patrolled by lifeguards. The victim, a teen-aged boy, had been warned twice not to operate his remote-controlled boat in the area.

Steps that have been taken include:
• Steep-sided cliffs in popular fishing areas have been lowered by bulldozers to reduce the possibility of falling into the water;

• Two boat ramps have been cut into the banks to facilitate launching of rescue craft;

• More signs warning against swimming are being put up to replace those vandals have torn down; When lifeguards can be spared from the official swimming area, they will patrol the arroyo, backed up with additional police and groundsperson patrols;

• Those fishing in the arroyo will be asked if they can swim and will be recommended to wear life jackets if they can't;

• Roads are being improved to allow better patrol car, rescue and ambulance access.
On June 16, Lenair Chess, 9, and his aunt, Caroline Grier, 34, who went to his rescue, drowned in the Arroyo. The boy's mother and Ms. Grier had been observed heading for the arroyo with eight children in tow.

Home arts winners shine at bright fair exhibit

Even decorated cakes cannot escape the bicentennial theme. Original star cake is by Caren Feagley of Pinole. A demonstration of the art of cake decorating is scheduled tomorrow, July 7 at the Young California Building. Mary Boehn will conduct the 3 p.m. demonstration.

Eye-catching exhibits in the Home Arts Department at the Alameda County Fair are the most attractive ever this year — the department's first year in the new Young California Building.

The difference from other years is felt immediately in the clean, carpeted and spacious display area which invites a more leisurely stroll through one of the largest and most comprehensive departments. The department encompasses textiles and clothing, baked and canned goods, knit and crochet items, pottery and macrame, crafts, stitchery, quilts, china painting and antiques.

An effective display accessory used this year is a large wooden cable spool (from P.G.&E.). Its rough texture compliments the casual denim jackets, shirts, vests and skirts which hung around its rim. Department Head Dorothy Ross promises more imaginative uses of the spools for next year.

Mrs. Ross is especially pleased with the sparkling new facility which offers limitless display possibilities, although the short time between receiving and opening dates places restrictions on experimenting with displays. Unfortunately, visitors take less pleasure in the fabulous quilt, afghan and knitwear entries because of crowded displays.

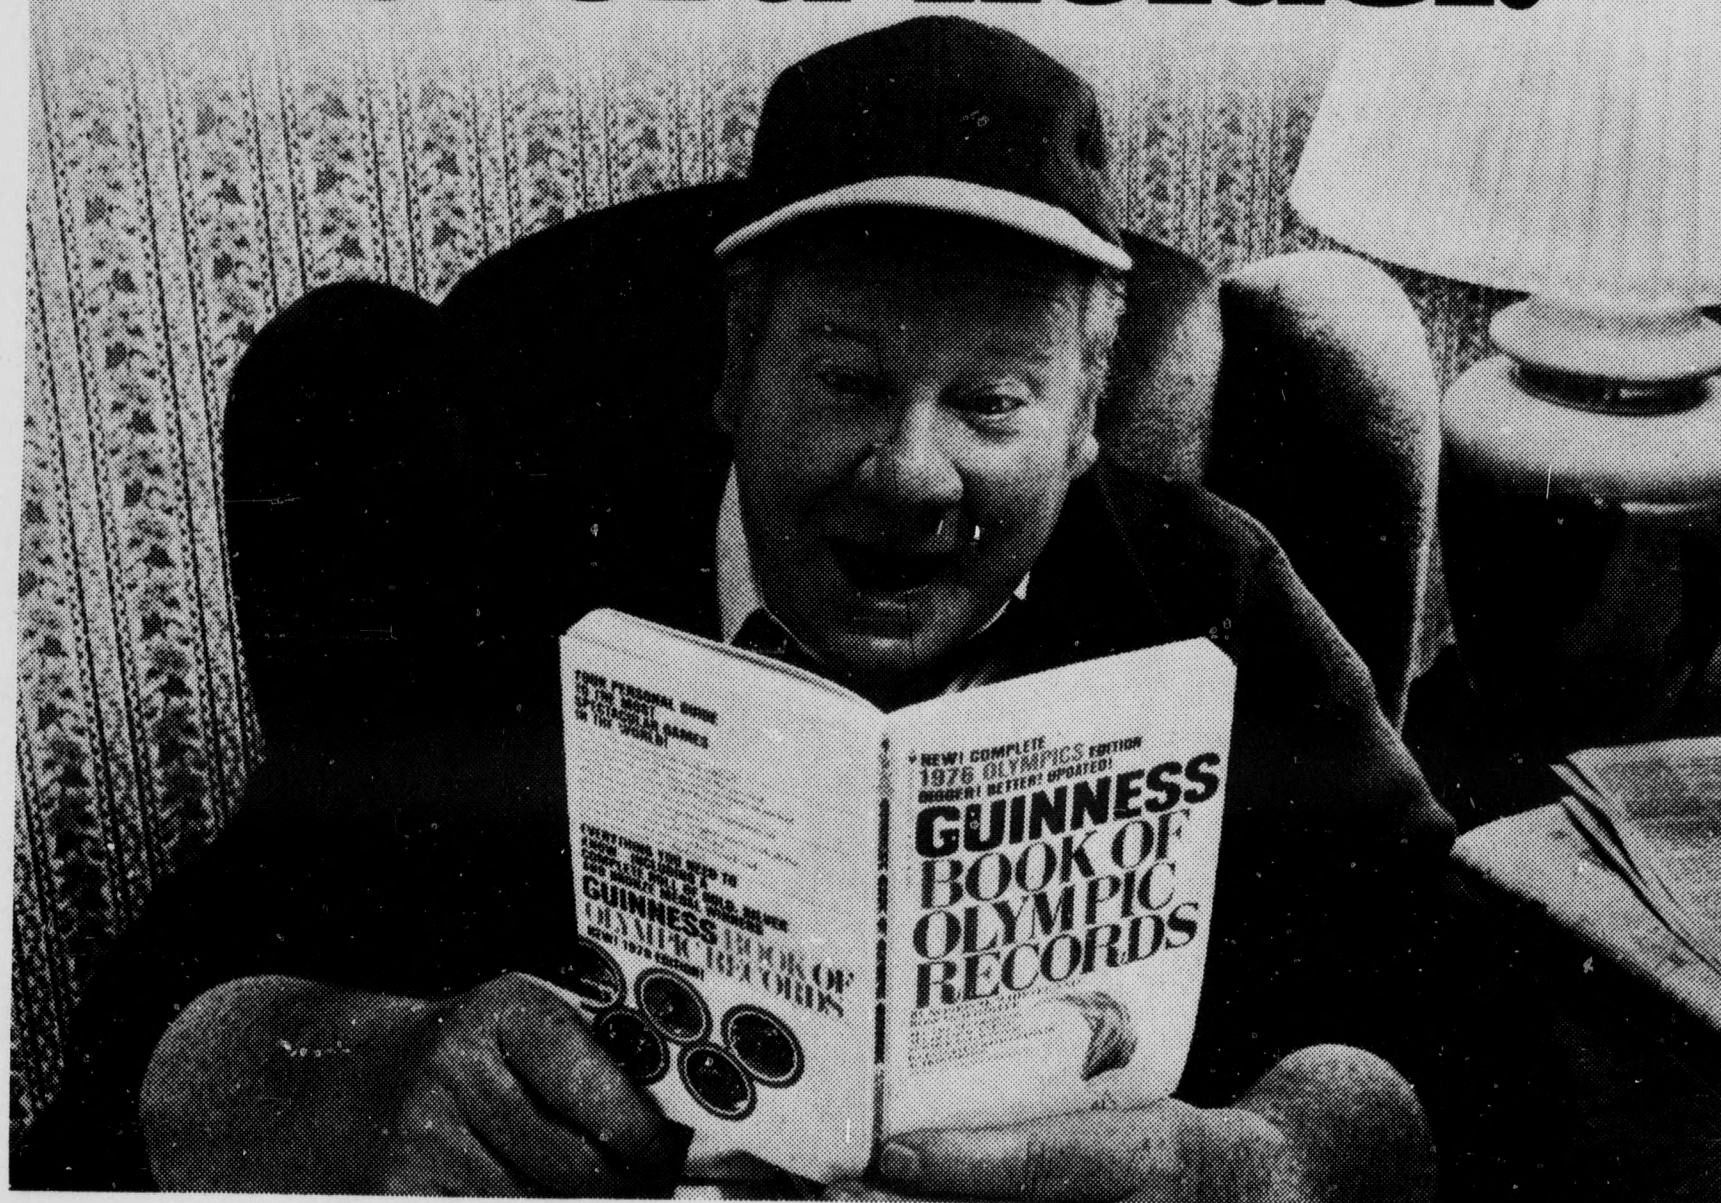

Local winners took the lion's share of awards in the baked foods judging. In a special bicentennial theme division for original, unusual or old recipes triple honors went to Ann Henderson of Dublin for Orange Bread, Norwegian Orange Cake, and Ginger Snaps. Other winners were Virginia Shearer of San Ramon with a Poor Man's Raisin Cake; Sally Chaphe of Pleasanton for Caramel Cake; Elizabeth Rhudy of Pleasanton for Chocolate Water Cake; Denise Watson of Livermore for Drop Cookies and Sharon Williams of Livermore for a decorated cake.

The best bread makers included Judy Davis of Livermore (1), Ann Henderson of Dublin (2, 3), Mary Potter of Livermore (1), Shirley House of Livermore (2, 2, 3), Betty J. Willford of Livermore (1), Dolly Jansen of Livermore (3), Karl Malmquist of Livermore (1, 3), Alice Ames of Livermore (3), Lena Fana of Livermore (1), JoAnn Choppin of Livermore (2), Cecilia Ward of Livermore

The Alameda County Fair moves into its second and final week today after a relatively prosperous Fourth of July weekend. Relatively, considering the lack of racing that drew 65,000 to the Pleasanton Fairgrounds on just one day over "the Fourth" in 1975.

Tonight is Family Night with adults and children ages 6 to 15 being admitted to the grounds after 5 p.m. for half-price.

Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass debut tonight with shows in the Amphitheatre at 7 and 9 p.m. The all-star professional stage shows are free. Davis and his group will be supported by the ventriloquist team of Willie Tyler and Lester, the Verne Rolle orchestra and emcee Paul Lennon.

The shows repeat Wednesday at 7 and 9.

Wednesday is Pleasanton Day at the Fair.

The Pleasanton Community Hour at 2 p.m. in the Court of 4 Seasons will feature an all-star lineup of amateur talent.

A barbecue is planned in the area next to the administration building, just off Pleasanton Avenue. An open bar will be available from 5 p.m. and dinner will be served by Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce "chefs" starting at 5:30 and continuing through until 9 p.m.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce offices on Neal Street through tomorrow afternoon.

Friday has been design-nated as Dublin Day, as well as Western Fairs Day, and Junior Amateur Talent finals.

The Dublin Community Hour will commence at 2 p.m.

Thursday night marks the debut of versatile, young banjoist Scotty Plummer on the Amphitheatre stage. He'll be supported by Willie Tyler and Lester and Anden's Poodles.

Judging was completed last week in the "Pageant of Feathers and Furs" otherwise known as the poultry division.

Dave Sherrill, Jr., of Arlington, Texas was judge.

Mrs. Ben York of Pleasanton, with a barred Plymouth Rock pullet captured the Bicentennial award in the best American breed category.

Only other valley blue ribbon was garnered by Paula Hotz of Livermore for her Pekin, old duck, in "Best Duck" category.

Poultry exhibitors from Cloverdale took away most of the blue ribbons. Gary Wilson of Cloverdale won in best American breed (Bicentennial award), best large male bird in show and best large female bird in show. He picked up a fourth blue ribbon in best male bantam bird in show.

Bill Holland of Jerome, Idaho, had the best female bantam bird in the show.

As in past years, mineral and gem exhibitors from Livermore took home a majority of the awards.

In specimen collection, Class 1, most interesting, attractive and educational display, Abe Feinberg of Livermore placed first with Sally Brown and Eugene Lopp of Livermore second and third, respectively.

Feinberg also secured a blue ribbon in crystals, Class 1, best exhibit of crystals.

In artifacts (Indian), Class 1, best exhibit of artifacts, Tess Trefethen of Livermore won the blue with Evelyn Bankhead of Livermore second.

Larry and Arleen Swanson of Livermore gained a blue in gemstones, Class 1, natural state. Jean Pfefer of Dublin won a second.

Ms. Pfefer placed first in the petrified wood category and purple glass colored by sun, Class 1, best exhibit.

Robert Trimmingham and Tess Trefethen received runnerup awards in the two categories.

Livermore resident Trimmingham earned blue ribbons in specimen collection, Class 1, best exhibit collected by exhibitor in field, and geodes and nodules, Class 1, best exhibit. Abe Feinberg and Eugene Lopp of Livermore won second-place ribbons.

G.E. Trefethen of Livermore captured the first in lapidary, Class 1, polished cabachons, while J.M. Newfield and Evelyn Bankhead of "gem city" received blue ribbons in handmade jewelry, Class 1, and handmade jewelry, Class 2, respectively.

Bottle collection, most interesting and attractive display, was an all-Livermore category. Winning first through fourth-place awards were Carol McDaniels, Arleen Swanson, Larry Swanson, and Joan Beckler.

Bottle collection, Class 2, antique bottle display, found Evelyn Bankhead gaining another blue ribbon and Jean Pfefer of Dublin winning a second.

The Livermore Lithophiles won first and third awards in best exhibit by a society or group of Alameda County.

A special award for her polished flats went to Tess Trefethen.

Trimingham received the special award for the best exhibit of mineral specimens of any kind from Alameda County.

Special ribbons went to Louise Henderson of Livermore for "Happy People" made of rocks, Tri-Valley Wood Carvers and Jim and Cheryl Danielson for their entry of sea shells.

PLEASANTON — Trustees of the Pleasanton Joint School District have reviewed summaries of school plans for Early Childhood Education and Miller - Unruh reading programs at Fairlands, Valley View and Vintage Hills for 1976-77.

Valley View's budget for support of its ECE and Miller - Unruh programs will consist of approximately $66,360 in state funds. These monies will be spent at grades K-3 and, along with the district effort, will support a systematically - planned program including reading, language, mathematics, staff development, health and auxiliary services, parent education and parent participation.

Goals for the 1976-77 will include continuing to develop the school's existing plans for individualized, continuous progress in the areas of reading, oral and written language, spelling and mathematics. Although all students will participate in the program, special emphasis will be given to students who are educationally - disadvantaged.

Automatic finesse cooks goose

That finesse lost to East's king and a second spade was led. After this start there was no way for South to score nine tricks.

It was incorrect for South to play the spade jack at trick one. Had he played small and then taken the diamond finesse East would not have been able to clear the spades for his partner and South would have been sure of 10 tricks.

Also, after losing the spade finesse at trick one South could have recovered by leading a club at trick two. If West held back his ace South could go after diamonds; if West took the trick one spade duck would save South's goose from the cooking pot.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Remember the mountain climber who wanted to climb a mountain because it was there. Some bridge players like to take finesse because they are there. Most of the time they are playing correctly, but there are a few times when they should shun a finesse like the plague.

South was one of those automatic finessers. He couldn't wait to play the jack of spades from dummy at trick one. East produced the queen and our hero won with the king and plunked the queen of diamonds on the table.

Ask the Jacobys

A Virginia reader wants to know the correct opening bid in standard American with:
 ♠AK8654 ♥AK2 ♦32 ♣A10.
 This hand should be opened with one spade. It is a mighty good hand, but with only 18 high-card points and eight probable winners it is a trifle too weak to start with a forcing two.

'Humpies' draw those catfish

In the Bag

Rich Lanza and his fishing buddy, Roger Cobb, decided to try some fly fishing (Rich is an old hand at this) and Roger wanted to do a bit of learning.

Off they went, to Trappers Slough where Rich advised they stay out near the willow trees and in the nooks and crannies of the weedbeds.

Rich and Roger used flies they had made; Rich called them "Humpies." Roger asked, "What do you do with all that line out there in front of you?" And Rich said, "Just thumb your reel a bit and let that Humpie drop there by that big pad."

Sure enough, a sunfish latched onto it right away. They spent an afternoon with great results — got all the fish they wanted. Roger says he learned a lot about fly fishing and is hooked himself!

Ron Hill and Bill Ramsey, meanwhile, went up to the "Big Break" area looking for catfish for their smoker. The weather was just about smoking, too. Ron was prepared with a wide-brimmed hat and suntan lotion, while Bill decided he wouldn't sunburn and what they'd need most was something cold to drink. They were both right.

They wound up with 19 catfish that averaged over a pound each, using clams for bait. Ron built his own smoker and prefers hickory, which gives him just what he likes for those cats.

The Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club will host a "Series '76" Trapshoot on July 10 and 11. PITA rules will apply.

Manuel Mingoia says the shooting will start at 10 a.m. on July 10. First event will be 100 16-yd targets. Second event to be 100 - Handicap targets. Events 3 and 6 will be 25 pairs of Doubles.

On July 11 the shooting will commence at 9:30 a.m. Event 4 will be 100 16-yd targets. Event 5 will be 100 - Handicap targets.

A silver buckle will go to the High Over-all Winner and a trophy will be given to the runner-up.

Trophies will be awarded each day to the winners in Classes AA, A, B, C, and D; and also to Handicap winner and runner-up. There will also be prizes for winners of Doubles in Classes A, B, C, and D. Also for High Lady and runner-up. This is a combination of 16-yd and Handicap. High Junior, combination score; Hi Sub-Junior, combination score; and High Veteran, combination score will come in for prizes as well.

Fourteen traps will be in operation.

Lionel Avila says the practice traps will be open at 9 a.m. for those who like to practice before competition starts.

Lunch will be served in the clubhouse. There will be a barbecue for the shooters on Saturday evening, for a nominal fee.

So bring your buddies, lots of ammo, and have a good time at your local club on July 10 and 11. Hope to see you there.

If you plan on fishing at Del Valle or Shadow Cliffs, be especially alert for snakes, particularly rattlers. In fact, snakes may be making their way into just about anyplace you go this summer, even your own yard.

The hot, dry weather brings snakes out looking for food, which is scarce this year. Some little rattlers may be only six to ten inches long but they are not harmless, as many common garden and water snakes are. So, be on the alert.

Remember your hunting license expired the last day of June. Looks as if the tab this year for hunting licenses will be $10 for the resident license; $3 for the resident deer tag (not too bad); and $1.00 (same as always) for the bear tag. Junior license (for youngsters 16 years and under) is $2.

Both Trinity and Shasta Lakes are reported to be 75 to 80 feet low for both reservoirs.

Dove season in the valley should be interesting. Big doves, little doves, fat or thin, they all have one thing in common: they all fly fast and are expert in a dipsy - doodle route that defies your skill.

Bow season opens July 3 for the early or coastal season, and runs through July 19. Bag limit is two bucks (forked horn or better).

Be sure and check areas you plan to hunt for counties in coastal season may not extend into your area. Rules and locations can be obtained from your local license distributors.

Murcer sparks Giant win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bobby Murcer smashed a double leading off the eighth inning and scored on a double play to snap a 4-4 tie and help the San Francisco Giants to a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

Murcer's hit, his third of the game, came off St. Louis righthander Harry Rasmussen, 3-7, and helped San Francisco lefthander Gary Lavelle get his third victory.

Lavelle, 3-4, relieved San Francisco starter Jim Barr after the clubs battled to a 4-4 tied through the first seven innings. After Murcer doubled, St. Louis reliever Al Hrabosky threw late to third base on Darrell Evans' sacrifice bunt and Ken Reitz grounded into a double play as Murcer scored.

In the ninth inning, the Giants added an insurance run on Dave Rader's single and stolen base, Lavelle's sacrifice, and Larry Herndon's grounder.

Marty Perez also had three hits for San Francisco. Herndon a triple and Evans a two-run home run, his fifth of the year, in the third inning.

San Francisco scored its first run on three straight singles in the first inning and St. Louis retaliated with four hits in a row to take a 3-1 lead.

The Cards wasted a single and a walk in the second, then Herndon's triple started a three-run Giant third climaxed by Evans' home run.

Rasmussen stroked a two-out single past Evans at first base to forge a 4-4 tie in the bottom of the third, then Barr set his opponents down in order for the first time in the fourth.

Proving tough in the clutch, Barr forced St. Louis to strand two runners in four of the first five innings. A double play helped the San Francisco pitcher survive the opening inning and Rasmussen later flied out after Hector Cruz singled and Mike Tyson doubled with two out in the Cards' fifth.

A's, 3-2

Sam Sisneroz hurled 13 strikeouts and gave up only five hits as the A's edged the Allied Brokers 3-2 in Pleasanton Babe Ruth action Thursday.

Mark Underseeth and Darren Hicks each starred on offense for the winners.

Hatters, Sox in farcical 8-8 draw

What better way to spend the Fourth of July holiday than to engage in the All-American game: baseball.

That's what the Pleasanton American Big League Red Sox and the Mad Hatters (a group of Little League coaches and managers) did yesterday (or rather attempted to do) in Pleasanton.

In a contest dominated by errors and several "comical" brawls the two teams fought to an 8-8 draw.

While the score seemed to indicate a slugfest it was more of a grown-up version of The Bad News Bears. Neither team seemed to take the contest seriously.

Probably the most unusual instance of the game occurred when Rob Flores, a member of the Red Sox, actually switched sides in the fifth inning and stole home to narrow the Big Leaguer's margin to 5-4.

The Mad Hatters tied the game up but fell behind again as the Red Sox scored three runs in the seventh. Not that the Mad Hatters really cared. They were busy reminiscing and drinking some of their favorite beverages.

One of the Mad Hatter's most famous players was Ed "Rifle Arm" Moreno, an ex-pitcher for the old San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League. "Rifle Arm" showed he still had plenty on his fastball but the Red Sox gradually wore him down.

"This is a lot like bush ball," Moreno laughed in the Mad Hatter dugout. "Not like the Padres."

Moreno was effective with just about every kind of pitch with the Padres but alas, yesterday was not one of his better days.

One of the other "stars" of the Mad Hatters was "Twinkle Toes" Weise, a stubby lad who didn't show blazing speed but more than made up for that handicap by running into a few Red Sox players.

Actually, perhaps the most amusing instances of the contest came at the beginning and the end.

Before play began the Red Sox players showed their patriotism by whistling the National Anthem. While the result wasn't exactly perfection it was one of the best efforts of the day.

In the bottom of the eighth inning and trailing 8-6 the Mad Hatters put 12 men and one woman in the field to bolster their defense. Apparently that seemed to spark them as they scored two runs in the top of the ninth to deadlock the score.

If the Mad Hatters had used that "strategy" earlier they might have won.

Liquors romp to easy win

Jolly Liquors belted 23 hits in taking a 17-11 win over Mutual Service in Livermore Area Recreation Softball action recently.

Mike Bradshaw had four hits to spark the winners. Fred Soto added three hits and scored twice as did Richard Whersocrrff.

A seven-run seventh inning provided the big margin for Jolly Liquors.

Charles Martin, Fred Cariss and Bob Hansen each had three hits for the losers. Martin scored twice. Gary Wood added two hits and two runs.

Round Table Pizza jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the opening stanza and took a 9-2 victory over Livermore Station.

Bill Hahn's double and a triple by Bill Prokeson supplied the four runs.

Prokeson led the winners with three hits and scored twice. Tim Malone, Butch Maesrek and Mike Lopez each had two hits for the winners.

Jack Pickerrail and Bob Cantrell each had two hits for the loser.

Round Table had 16 hits and Livermore Station belted nine.

Fidrychs shrugs off money talk

DETROIT (AP) — Sports writers, broadcasters, fans and even a state legislator have begun a campaign urging the Detroit Tigers to give rookie pitching sensation Mark "The Bird" Fidrych a raise.

Fidrych currently makes the major league minimum of $16,500. His supporters figure the way he's been winning and drawing thousands of fans to Tiger Stadium, he is worth much, much more.

But the Bird, true to his image as an individualist, says he doesn't want more money. He's even tried of hearing people say that he should be getting more.

"Hell no," he said bluntly, when asked whether he thought he should get a raise.

"This is the most I've ever made in my life," said the 21-year-old right-hander, whose latest effort was a 4-0 shutout over Baltimore Saturday night. That came on the heels of a nationally televised triumph over the New York Yankees last Monday night which placed him squarely in the national spotlight.

"What happens if he (General Manager Jim Campbell) did give me a raise?" Fidrych said. "It might go to my head and I'd start losing."

Fidrych's latest triumph, which drew a near-capacity crowd of 51,032 to Tiger Stadium, was his eighth in a row and ninth in 10 decisions. He has completed nine of the 10 and his only loss was a 2-0 complete-game setback to Luis Tiant of Boston.

The Bird's earned-run average of 1.85 is the American League's best.

But despite those gaudy statistics, he's happy with his modest salary.

"I'm satisfied with what I'm getting," Fidrych reiterated. "I don't need an agent."

Campbell has said the club doesn't usually give mid-season raises, "so why start now?" But Campbell has indicated the Tigers might reward Fidrych after the season ends.

co-sponsored by the Pleasanton Babe Ruth League and the R.T. French Mustang Company of Rochester, New York.

The competition measured skills of distance hitting, throwing accuracy and base-running skill.

Guy Houston won the 15-year old division, placing ahead of Pat Cohan. Scott Henderson took the top award in the 14-year old class and Don Mitchell placed second.

Mike Bell won the 13-year old division and Mark Sisneroz took second place. The winners will receive trophies.

Practice sessions are from 7:15 a.m. to 8 for swimmers ages 11 to 17 and 8 a.m. to 8:45 for those ages 10 and under. All summer school students practice at 5 p.m. Practices are at the club pool on Churchill Drive.

Qualifications for joining the team include the ability to swim one length of the pool if 10 or under and two lengths if the swimmer is 11 or over.

For further information contact Morley at the pool.

Dublin stars

The Braves dominated the Dublin Senior League All-Stars squad released recently with five players named to the team.

Rick Rosenbach, Donny Pearson, Mike Coloario, Jeff Bynum, Doug Daugherty and Willie Langenhutzen of the Braves were selected. Greg Bustama, Mike Harmon and Jorge Garratt were the Padres named to the team. The Dodgers placed Mike Norman and Bob Bottarini, Joey Roposa and Ralph Johnson were picked from the Cardinals, and Derrick Woodbridge selected from the A's.

Frank Caloario of the Braves was named manager and Paul Hunter of the A's was selected coach.

BORN LOSER

If you think things sometimes go wrong for you, you'll feel better after laughing at "The Born Loser" each morning in The Times comics.

Jones takes nothing lightly

CHICAGO (AP) — Randy Jones, the San Diego Padres' classy left-hander, is not thinking about 30 victories or the All-Star Game or getting into the record books.

He's thinking about the Chicago Cubs.

Jones, 26, chalked up his 15th victory Sunday with a tidy nine-hit, 5-2 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers. That put him within one game of tying the National League record for most victories before the All-Star break and just two shy of the major league mark.

It also stirred up talk of a possible 30-win season, the first in the majors since Denny McLain did it for Detroit in 1968. The last National Leaguer to win 30 was Dizzy Dean with St. Louis in 1934.

Jones, who has lost three and carries a 2.51 earned run average, goes after his 16th victory here Thursday afternoon. He's not looking any further ahead than that.

"It's a funny game," said Jones. "I read about other pitchers who had a lot of wins at the break, then barely won 20. Last year I finished up 9-7 after the All-Star break and I didn't really feel like I pitched any differently than in the first half when I was 11-5. Maybe the breaks won't go my way like they have been."

"Right now I'm just looking for No. 16."

Jones says he is wary of the Cubs, even though they are drifting toward the National League East basement.

"They're always tough on me so I'm going to be very, very careful. I think I'll try to make nothing but perfect pitches for the first few innings and see how it goes."

If he beats the Cubs Thursday he could go after win No. 17 Sunday in Philadelphia. That would tie him with Oakland's Vida Blue for most wins before the All-Star Game, which will be played Tuesday in Philadelphia.

Local agencies find jobs for teens

Got a job
a teen can do?

Call:
455-HIRE

When Jim Ward drives by People's Church in Livermore next year, he can watch the new trees and bushes growing and know he helped to plant them.

Jim, a 17-year-old Del Valle High student, is doing landscaping work for the Springtown church this summer. He got his job through the new Hire-a-teen project being run by the Employment Development Department on Catalina Court, Livermore.

Rake and shovel in hand, Jim is clearing the way for new fences and plants to surround the little church's parking lot. Pastor Steve Riggie has also hired a 16-year-old Lauralee Hinde of Livermore High to work in the nursery Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Sundays.

So far, 60 Pleasanton and Livermore teens have found jobs through the Hire-a-teen project. Doing clerical work is Ann Wondolowski, a recent Livermore High graduate who just won a prize at the county fair in shorthand. Gina Smith, 16, is tutoring a fourth grader in reading.

A second teen employment program, operating from an office in Foothill High, is Summer Youth Employment. Scott Heston is in charge of the $155,000 federally funded program, which has placed 280 low-income students in government and nonprofit corporation jobs throughout the area.

Participants in Summer Youth Employment, unlike Hire-a-teen, must be unemployed and living alone or must come from a family where the breadwinner has been disabled or out of work or has a low salary.

Many of the Hire-a-teen jobs are single-assignment tasks such as painting a fence or doing a load of ironing.

Babysitting, digging in the garden and helping with clerical work are other kinds of work often assigned. The phone number is 455-HIRE, for prospective employers and for job applicants. Wages start at about $2 an hour for most jobs, heavy work at $3.

Anyone between the ages of 13 and 22 may sign up for Hire-a-teen. The efficient new program came about when Kay Honodel of Livermore, who had been active in last year's somewhat different teen employment effort, realized no program was being planned for this summer.

She told the Social Concerns Committee about the lack and managed to bring about cooperation between the city, committee volunteers and the state Employment Development Department.

The city paid for the special HIRE phone number, posters and business cards promoting the program. Meanwhile, volunteer Jean King typed up 600 envelopes so letters could be sent to prospective employers.

Nell Means, who runs the EDD office, is pleased with reports she gets from people who have hired a local teen through her program.

She says, "The young people are very eager to work and do a good job."
